Dear Colleague

I am delighted to invite you to the inaugural IV Forum conference which is being held as part of the Infection prevention Society Annual Conference and Exhibition. The Infection Prevention Society recognises that there are many common strands that connect IV therapy and Infection Prevention so last year the Society formed an IV Forum within IPS. One of the visible outcomes of this new venture is the first IV Forum Conference.

The programme acknowledges the overall theme of infection prevention but it also has a number of sessions which are specifically on IV therapy. We are delighted to welcome Marcia Ryder from California. She is recognised as a world authority on the emerging science of biofilms and its implications for IV Therapy. Her session should provide the audience with fascinating insights and we are delighted to welcome her. Another of the many highlights will be the session by Stephen Rowley. ANTT, a phrase which has become adopted throughout healthcare, was first defined by Stephen and his session will focus on a standardised approach to aseptic technique.

Delegates to the IV forum will have access to any of the sessions on in the main infection prevention conference programme. If you are already a member of IPS you will qualify for the members special delegate rates and if you are not a member it is easy to join up and the reduction in delegate fee will cover the cost of joining IPS.

Registering for the event is very straightforward via the IPS website www.ips.uk.net. There are a number of choices for registering as this is the site for the full IPS conference. If you need any help the IPS events team are available on 01506 811077 or via ips@fitwise.co.uk

I look forward to seeing you at this event.

Andrew Jackson

Intravenous Therapy Conference

The exhibition

The adjoining exhibition will showcase almost 120 companies exhibiting a huge range of products and services for vascular access, IV therapy and infection prevention. With over 40 companies who have not exhibited before you can be sure that there will be many new and innovative products. This is your opportunity to find out what new products are available, which ones have been improved and the patient care improvements available from their use.

CPD points and certificate of attendance

The conference provides an ideal opportunity for continual professional development for all healthcare professionals. All delegates will receive a certificate of attendance after the event which will record the sessions that they have attended. In addition the conference has been awarded 17 Continuing Medical Education (CME) points for medical staff from the Royal College of Pathologists. An online evaluation form will also be forwarded to all delegates after the event.'

Travel to Harrogate

Harrogate is accessible by train from Leeds and York which have high speed connections throughout the rail network. Leeds and Manchester airports are both accessible for Harrogate and the road network available includes the A1/M1, M56 and many other major routes. Full details of all travel options including car sharing are available on the IPS Conference website.

Venue

Harrogate is centrally located within the UK being the same distance from Edinburgh and London. It is a perfect conference town with a range of accommodation to suit all budgets, one of the finest conference and exhibition centres in the UK and a wide range of restaurants and bars to make networking in the evening a more relaxing experience.

The Harrogate International Centre has a selection of conference facilities and exhibition halls which IPS will be making full use of. The venue hosts many medical and nursing events and consistently scores highly on delegate and exhibitor evaluations.
