

Intravenous literature: Andrew F. Shorr, MD, Associate Professor of Medicine, Department of Pulmonary & Critical Care Medicine, George Washington University presents a video review of central venous catheters treated with anti-infective agents in preventing catheter-related bloodstream infections.

Click here to view the video.

More IV news at IVTEAM

