

At Sepsis Unplugged 2018, a range of practical workshops, discussion panels and interactive sessions lead the way for a truly novel, inspiring experience.

The UK Sepsis Trust is pleased to announce that Sepsis Unplugged 2018 will take place from the 5th to the 6th of February at Edgbaston Stadium, Birmingham. Sepsis Unplugged is a conference done a little differently.

Dr Ron Daniels BEM, Chief Executive of the UK Sepsis Trust, comments: "At Sepsis Unplugged 2018, we'll be leaving attitudes and egos at the door. Traditional academic meetings have failed to reliably improve outcomes or engage the wider healthcare system, so this conference is about bringing together health professionals and patient groups as equals."

At Sepsis Unplugged 2018, a range of practical workshops, discussion panels and interactive sessions lead the way for a truly novel, inspiring experience. High profile speakers will provide a comprehensive and up-to-date review of sepsis to include the patient perspective, examining patient information, management of paediatric sepsis, maternal sepsis, and lots more.
