

Intravenous news: News Medical report “Keeping up with the latest research and commentary in infusion nursing just got easier, with the premiere of the new Journal of Infusion Nursing iPad app. The official journal of the Infusion Nurses Society (INS) will showcase the app during the INS 2012 Annual Conference in Las Vegas, April 28- May 3rd. The Journal of Infusion Nursing is published by Lippincott Williams & Wilkins, a part of Wolters Kluwer Health.

“We’re tremendously excited about our new iPad edition,” commented Mary Alexander, MA, RN, CRNI, CAE, FAAN, INS Chief Executive Officer and Editor of Journal of Infusion Nursing. “The iPad app is further testament to INS’s position as the global leader in infusion therapy and is in keeping with our commitment to the use of technology to provide essential information.”<sup>1</sup> Journal of Infusion Nursing for the iPad is now available as a free download at the iTunes App Store.”

Click here for more information.

