

With effect from the 1st November 2016, Interrad Medical is pleased to announce its new distributorship with Aquilant Medical.

This new partnership, which is exclusive in England and Wales, will provide a broader footprint and will help to increase the accessibility of SecurAcath to a wider range of patients.

Due to the proven clinical and cost benefits of SecurAcath, the interest and demand for this product has dramatically increased. As such extensive resources are required so that full advantage is taken of the opportunities ahead, not only in Vascular Access, but within Intensive Care Units, Anesthesiology and Interventional Radiology.

Aquilant Medical will provide the intensive commercial and clinical support required to ensure the continuing success of SecurAcath.
